

Then Suzy found an acorn case.

"This can be my space helmet!" said Suzy,
jamming it on her head.

Finally she found a pine cone. It was a nice big one.

"This can be my space rocket," she said.

Max ran as fast as he could to catch up with the sheep. He sped down the hill, faster and faster and faster.

Chapter 1

“Have you finished mopping the kitchen floor yet?” Raj’s stepfather, Terry, called from upstairs.

“Just finished!” Raj replied, wiping his brow. It had taken ages.

“Good,” Terry replied. “Then take out the rubbish, do the washing up, and put your stepbrothers to bed. I’m having a bath.”

But Nanny didn't stop. Ant shut his eyes and waited for them to crash to the ground. But they didn't. They were soaring through the air. Nanny landed on the next roof, ran across it, and then leapt again. Ant felt like he was flying.

"How are you doing this?" Ant asked.

"A ninja never reveals her secrets," Nanny said with a smile.

Then Ant heard a noise. Was someone in danger? Maybe Ant had ninja senses like Nanny.

"I think someone is in trouble," said Ant.

"I'll go and investigate," Nanny said. From somewhere in her tight Ninja outfit, Nanny pulled out a long wire with a hook on the end. She threw it, and it hooked somewhere on the ground. Nanny tied the other end to the roof.

"Stay here," Nanny told Ant.
