

I thought about it. Every time I'd seen the girl she'd been reaching out.

But I'd always turned around before she could get to me.

If I waited for her to touch me, she might still be there when I turned. Then I could find out what she wanted.

