

CHAPTER 4
DISGUISED

Juliet shuffled towards the compound.

She'd spent all day painting her skin grey, drawing cracked veins on her cheeks and dabbing fake blood around her mouth.

She was sure the guards would think she was a zombie. They'd let her in and she'd be able to see Romeo one last time.

