

The army of Antium invaded the planet easily and took back their fuel.

The people of the capital city begged Corro to stop but he just laughed in their faces.

He was teaching them a lesson. He was getting his revenge.

