

CHAPTER TWO THE REAL WORLD

Hansel yelped as a car swerved around him.

“Why are all these people aiming their metal chariots at me?” he asked.

“They’re called cars,” said Jack. “And they’re meant to be on the road. You’re not.”

Tom Thumb jumped as a tiny dog barked at him.

“What’s with all these wolves?” he cried. “Don’t people know how dangerous they are?”

