

Closer and closer they came to the rocky asteroid. They were just metres away. Simon got ready to fire the rockets. That would slow the ship down and stop it crashing into the asteroid.

“Firing.”

He pressed the switch.

But nothing happened.