A pair of bright, sea-green eyes blinked open in front of her. It was a boy, about her age.

Her eyes opened wide, and she smiled. "It's you," she said.

Everything seemed to stop.