

“Sure did. Is this the old man you were talking about? Does he know how to stop this?”

Dee looked at the old man.

“I think he is ready to tell me now.”

“Yes, yes of course, thank you pretty lady, thank you. If I remember correctly all you must do is rewind the tape, yes that is it, rewind the tape.”

“That’s it?” Dee asked. “Max, quick I need you to give me a lift to the shop.”

Max and Dee charged across the bridge in their new alien robot.

The crowds cheered as the robot punched alien spaceships from the sky.

They had reached the shop and Dee slid down the robot arm to the entrance.