

The first day was really bad. Uncle Ken wanted to show them all the work he had done in his garden.

He went on and on about it. “Look at these! Isn’t it exciting? I’ve never grown red ones before!”

James and Jade tried to look interested, but it wasn't easy.

At the bottom of the garden was a fence. Big leafy branches hung over it.

“What’s over there, Uncle Ken?” asked Jade.

Uncle Ken looked cross.
