

Why did people build castles?

Rich people built castles so they would have somewhere safe to live.

Many castles in Britain were built between the years 1066 and 1400.