

Romans also liked to watch chariot races on huge outdoor tracks.

They liked to bet on the races just like people bet on horse racing today.

One famous gladiator was called Spartacus. He led an army of escaped slaves but he was killed in a battle against their Roman masters.