

Some people think mystery beasts live at the bottom of deep lakes.

For almost 1500 years people have talked about a mystery beast in Scotland.

They say it lives in the deep lake called Loch Ness so it is called the Loch Ness Monster.

The monster is said to be 20 metres long.

WOW!
facts

This photo of the Loch Ness Monster was taken in 1934. Many years later the photo turned out to be a fake!

This beast is said to live in a huge swamp in Africa.

They call it Mokele Mbembe, which means 'the beast that stops the water'.
